

ANDREI HARMSWORTH'S

GUILTY PLEASURES

WE SHANTY BE HOMELESS NOW, SAYS NATHAN

EX-POSTIE BUYS A HOUSE AFTER SONG DID SO WELLER

HE cheque's in the post! Former postie Nathan Evans has finally managed to buy a home of his own after months of living with his wife's auntie.

The 26-year-old's entire world has 'fast-tracked' since his TikTok cover of sea shanty Wellerman, a collaboration with 220 Kid and Billen Ted, topped the charts.

'Me and the wife have managed to get a house together,' Scot Nathan spilled to Guilty Pleasures.

'That has always been a dream to move, we've been renting and stuff. For three or four months we've been living with my wife's auntie, we've not moved out yet.

'We've managed to buy ourselves

a house. That has been the most extravagant thing.'

Nathan, from Airdrie in North Lanarkshire, is now signed to Polydor records and has a US record deal and a tour on the way. His fans include Andrew Lloyd Webber, Brian May and US chat show host Jimmy Fallon.

Describing his rags-to-riches world, he continued: 'It's absolutely fantastic, it's fast-tracked us. When we first moved in with the auntie the plan was to stay at least a year, maybe even a year and half and get everything paid off.'

Only last May Nathan was working as a steel erector. 'I was having a tough time mentally,' he added. 'My mental health was the lowest it has ever been.'

'I was quitting my job and me and my wife were having a bit of an argument over it and it wasn't the best. It was a really low time for me.'

'If I could look back now and say, "It's all going to work out"... it's crazy how things can change.'

It gives everyone a bit of hope because if it can happen to me it can happen to anyone.'

Nathan's Wellerman (220 Kid and Billen Ted Remix) is heading back towards No.1, and tickets for his UK tour are available at LiveNation.co.uk.

His ship's come in: Nathan has record deals and a tour coming up after 'tough time'

© HANLEY

I WAS QUITTING MY JOB AND ME AND MY WIFE WERE HAVING A BIT OF AN ARGUMENT OVER IT AND IT WASN'T THE BEST

AR YOU READY FOR THIS? LIAM TO SING LIVE VIA HIS AVATAR

LIAM PAYNE is to make history by performing in a special augmented reality experience ahead of the EE Bafta Film Awards.

The Strip That Down singer will take part in the real-time AR experience, using EE's 5G network, ahead of the ceremony on Sunday.

The one-off performance will be recorded live and beamed to fans across the UK on their mobile phones if they head over to AR app The Round at 6.45pm on Sunday. 'To be able to perform live via my very own avatar blows my mind,' said Liam, 27. 'You can take a first look at my EE Bafta performance, delivered by my real life avatar, live. See you there!'

Lasso says it for the lassies as Jason scoops comedy gong

JASON SUDEIKIS was battling for women's rights with the top he wore to the Screen Actors Guild Awards.

Jason, who plays an American football coach in Apple TV+ comedy Ted Lasso, wore a £650 Gucci jumper with the words 'My Body My Choice' as he accepted the best comedy actor prize at the virtual ceremony.

It's not the first time the 45-year-old has made a statement at an awards bash. At the Golden Globes in February he wore a tie-dye hoodie publicising his sister's dance studio. And Jason's top at the Critics' Choice Awards last month referenced the 2019 film Booksmart, directed by his former partner Olivia Wilde - who is now dating Harry Styles.

KATE AND SAOIRSE DIG DEEP INTO THEIR PRIVATE LIVES

KATE WINSLET and Saoirse Ronan swapped secrets about their own lives when they starred as lovers in Francis Lee's film Ammonite.

Oscar-winner Kate, 45, who plays Victorian fossil hunter Mary Anning, said: 'I can tell you that there were private things shared between myself and Francis and Saoirse connected to our own paths et cetera that we felt were relevant to add to these characters - and those aren't things that I'd be really sharing publicly.'

Jurassic lark: The pair in Ammonite

Justin's EP surprise... it's the gospel truth

FORGET the Easter Bunny... a treat came from Easter Bieber this weekend when Justin dropped a surprise gospel EP called Freedom. The six-track mini-album includes the title track, featuring Beam, All She Wrote with Brandon Love and Chandler

Moore and We're In This Together. 'In a time when there's so much wrong with this broken planet, we all crave healing - and justice - for humanity,' said Bieber, 27. 'My goal is to make music that will provide comfort; to make songs that people can relate to.'